Continuation of 11. does NOT place the application in condition for allowance because: Karwowski et al. can contain wheat gluten which would add flexibility, (col. 9, lines 5-12) McGenity, discloses 3-10% meat and 50-60% flour, as does Scaglione et al. Wheat flour is known to contain gluten, which as argued provides a gluten network which increases the flexibility of jerky product. The above secondary references actually have the claimed amounts of wheat flour. Applicants have not excluded these references. The amounts of meat are very close. Therefore, it would have been obvious to add wheat flour for its known function of adding flexibility to a composition.
